✓ Become a CPD Accredited Provider

Award your business with CPD Credentials and demonstrate you have structured training programmes in place.

CPD can deliver many benefits to both your business and its employees. One of the main advantages it provides is that it ensures standards remain high. This sets your company apart from its competitors as a leading brand within the industry. It shows a high level of professionalism, giving both clients and employees confidence that you're a serious business. This could help you to win quite a few new contracts!

When you become CPD accredited, your e-Learning Hub will be independently assessed, and best of all, you won't need to lift a finger! Here at ISO Systems UK, we take care of the whole application process and ongoing maintenance to ensure you retain your CPD credentials.

✓ First of its kind!

We are currently one of the first eLearning providers to be offering such a high level of customisation, making your courses genuinely yours!

For effective training programmes – sometimes ‘off the shelf’ courses just don’t cut-it! Which is why we design white label courses that can be rebranded, easily adapted and updated to change over time when your business needs it.

✓ Did you know?

Research shows learners recall just 10% of what they read and 20% of what they hear. If there are visuals accompanying an oral presentation, the number rises to 30%, and if they observe someone carrying out an action while explaining it, 50%. But learners remember 90% "if they do the job themselves, even if only as a simulation.

We create training programs that captivates the learner and causes them to sit up, take notice and learn.

We do this by the effective use of video, in training, this can be extremely powerful. The “Pictorial Superiority Effect” indicates that using pictures and words together promotes greater information recall. Specifically, after 3 days, we tend to remember 10% of the information we saw in word format whereas we tend to remember 65% of the information we saw in both picture and word formats.

WHAT CAN YOU DO WITH YOUR ELEARNING?

✓ Video Conversions from PDF or Word

We can convert your own training handbooks or induction courses into video training modules!

It's as easy a 1-2-3, you give us your training material, whether that's word, pdf or a PowerPoint presentation and we will extract your text from it and convert it into a script to then build the foundation of your new training courses, eliminating expensive printing costs and helping you reduce your carbon footprint.

✓ Turn Documents into Training Video's

Communicate your policies or procedures effectively!

Auditor: "This policy must be communicated & understood"

Customer: "Your staff must follow our procedures for this contract"

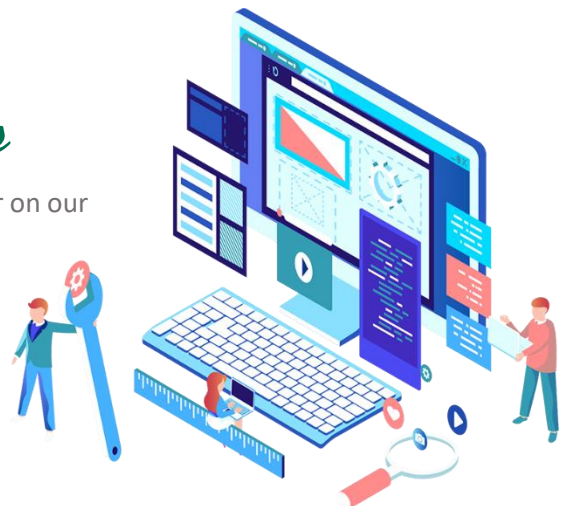

We give you the ability to convert your policies, customer protocols and awareness statements into Animated Training Video's accompanied by short competency tests. You can now be assured they have been communicated and understood and provide evidence for this with competency certificates and real time reports.

✓ Bespoke Course Requirements

If your business requires a specific course that we don't currently offer on our Learning Hub Service, you can request for it to be designed and developed for you.

This enables you to have all the training you need In One Central Place!
